The Chair for IT-Security (Lehrstuhl für Wirtschaftsinformatik IV) invites to apply for a

PHD Position (TV level 13)
within FORSEC project in the area of Security and Privacy in Smart Environments

The chair is placed in the department of Information Systems at the Universität Regensburg. We are interested in a variety of research and teaching topics: from the theoretical foundations of Security & Privacy to the design and implementation of secure and privacy enhanced protocols.

FORSEC is a research consortium consisting of several universities, Friedrich-Alexander-Universität Erlangen-Nürnberg, Technische Universität München, Universität Passau, Universität Regensburg and the application-oriented research organization Fraunhofer. The project is funded by the Bavarian government (<http://www.bayforsec.de>). Extraordinary opportunities to develop your research skills await you within our chair and FORSEC.

TV level 13: The salary is according TV level 13 (Entgeltgruppe 13). This is the tariff that doctoral students qualify for in Germany. For a single person this means a gross salary of about €3110 per month and about €3450 after one year. The position begins as early as Summer 2014 and ends 2018.

The successful candidate must have an excellent masters degree in Computer Science or a related field at time of appointment. Applications from women are strongly encouraged. Disabled people with the appropriate qualifications will be considered preferably. To apply, send your application letter with the usual information (detailed CV, copy of your certificates etc.) to Mrs. Gorski (heike.gorski@wiwi.uni-regensburg.de).
